RCC Community Education makes free tuition offer

Rogue Community College is continuing its “Bring a Friend” promotion for winter term Community Education classes. Persons who pay tuition at the time of registration for selected classes may register a second person into the same class for free.

Community Education classes are short non-credit classes designed for personal enrichment, education and enjoyment. Most meet in the evenings, with topics ranging from foreign languages to computer programs. Others cover such topics as art, cooking, music and welding for the novice.

The “Bring a Friend” offer is underwritten by a state grant, which supports efforts to improve education and increase enrollment in classes pertaining to health, safety, and the workforce.

To see the complete list of classes eligible for RCC’s “Bring a Friend” offer, visit www.rogucecc.edu/communityed.

To register for classes call Community Education at 956-7303 in Josephine County or 245-7616 in Jackson County. Or register in person on any Rogue Community College campus.
