TRiO marks 43 years of helping college students succeed

In celebration of the 43rd National TRiO Day, the TRiO/Student Support Services program at Rogue Community College plans a networking event from 5:30-8 p.m. Feb. 20 in the Redwood Campus Student Center, Grants Pass.

“This gathering gives current TRiO/SSS students and alumni the opportunity to develop a professional and educational network to enhance their college and community connections,” said Jodi Van Iersel, TRiO program specialist.

Community members and RCC faculty and staff will share their educational experiences with current TRiO students and alumni to help them expand their educational and professional networks, she noted. The event also helps students and alumni cultivate relationships with the RCC Foundation.

RCC TRiO alumni interested in attending the event are urged to contact Van Iersel at 956-7347.

TRiO Student Support Services is a federally funded program that provides a variety of services — at no charge — to first-generation, low-income, or disabled students who intend to transfer to a four-year college or university.
