RCC Board gives president high marks

Rogue Community College President Peter Angstadt has received a positive evaluation from the RCC Board, which also extended his contract for one year.

A President's Evaluation Committee solicited comments from faculty, support staff, college managers, and students for the annual evaluation. The committee found "more than satisfactory" responses to the president's 2008-09 performance in every category, according to RCC Board member Joe Zagorski, who chaired the committee.

"The responses were very, very positive, and the board is very pleased with his performance," said Zagorski, a retired community college executive. "We feel we are most fortunate to have a person of Dr. Angstadt's caliber as our college president."

The board voted unanimously May 19 to extend Angstadt's three-year contract through June 30, 2012.
