RCC FireHouse exhibit reflects artist’s meditations

“Sitting Still,” an exhibit of artwork by Eloise Larson, will be shown Nov. 5-24 at Rogue Community College’s FireHouse Gallery.

This exhibit features a series of non-representational paintings, monotypes, charcoal, and gouache on paper as black-and-white expressions of reality. Influenced by her Buddhist practice, Larson invites the viewer to “sit still” in the meditative, reverent environment of her paintings.

Larson has been a painter for 40 years. She received a Master’s of Fine Arts from University of Alaska, Fairbanks, where she taught art for many years. Now retired and living in Weed, California, she devotes much of each day to studying the ancient Buddhist sutras and commentaries, reading, journaling, contemplating, and painting.

Also on display in the gallery’s Community Exhibits Room are digital photo collages by Susan Jordan. FireHouse Gallery is located at Fourth and H streets in Grants Pass.

A First Friday Art Night reception will be held November 5 from 6-9 pm.
