RCC offers range of self-study courses

More than 300 Web-based courses covering a variety of business and community subjects are offered by the Rogue Community College Business Development Center. The center also provides numerous textbook-based courses for advancing businesses and careers.

Online self-study courses include continuing education and pre-licensing training for insurance agents as well as securities, futures, and certified financial planners. These courses are presented in partnership with 360 Training. To register visit http://roguecc.360training.com. Insurance agents can gain continuing education units needed for state license renewal through Web-based courses. For complete descriptions of more than 50 courses and to register, visit http://roguecc.webce.com.

Textbook-based supervisor trainings, designed for business and career advancement, help students gain the skills needed to succeed while studying at their own convenience. Ten weeks are allowed to complete each course, after which a certificate of participation is awarded. CEUs are available for many courses, which offer open enrollment. Tuition is $150 per course.
