RCC theater students to present “Shakespeare said WHAT?”

GRANTS PASS — Rogue Community College Theater Arts students at the Redwood Campus will present famous Shakespearean monologues and scenes — with a twist — in Dec. 6.

Because the language of William Shakespeare can be difficult to understand, the students have been interpreting his works in their own words, according to RCC Humanities instructor Wayd Drake.

Students will perform their versions from 4:30 to 5:45 p.m. in the Rogue Auditorium, 3345 Redwood Hwy. Admission is “pay what you can.”

More information is available by contacting Drake at 541-956-7165 or at wdrake@roguecc.edu. Or visit www.roguecc.edu/theater.
