Editors: Please note orientations added for the Table Rock Campus.

Orientations set for fall term basic skills classes at RCC

Students who plan to take Adult Basic Skills, GED and English as a Second Language classes at RCC may register now for an orientation session.

New students and those who have not been in the program for a year must attend an orientation session before registering for classes. At some locations, entry into classes is restricted after the first week of each term, which begins Sept. 30.

Students returning from the previous term should call the appropriate campus for registration information. The fee is $65 a term.
