Free RCC String Orchestra Concert

Medford – The Rogue Community College (RCC) String Orchestra is planning a free concert for the general public on Monday, August 24.

The Orchestra will feature classical, rag time and movie themes in their performance at RCC's Riverside Campus, Rogue Performance Hall, Building C, in Medford at 130 E. 8th Street. It will be a one hour concert beginning at 7 p.m.

Gary Kroll, RCC instructor and violinist, will be directing the show and performing a number with the group called "Oblivion, by Astor Piazzolla. Another featured artist, Teresa Northcross, principal cellist has been with the Chamber Orchestra for over six years. She will be performing, "It Takes One to Tango," by Brian Balmage.

Other planned highlights include Piano Concerto No. 1, Nutcracker Suite, Marche Slav, Romeo and Juliet, and 1812 Overture. The final performance will be "Tchaikovsky's Greatest Hits."
