March 15, 2010

"Annie Get Your Gun" auditions to take place at RCC

Auditions for an upcoming production of "Annie Get your Gun" will be held April 10 in Grants Pass and April 17 in Medford.

This long-popular musical is being presented by Rogue Community College's Theater Arts program in collaboration with Impact Theatre, Stillpoint Dance Studio, ArtWorks and the newly formed Lucky Dog Events.

Grants Pass auditions take place at 2 p.m. in the Rogue Building on Redwood Campus. In Medford, tryouts will be held at the Riverside Campus, H Building, at 2 p.m. Performers interested in auditioning should prepare a short contemporary monologue and 32 bars of two contrasting songs. Please bring sheet music; a piano accompanist will be provided.

The show, which opens July 19 at the RCC Marjorie Holzgang Concert Bowl, will run for two weekends.

"Annie Get Your Gun" will be directed by Shane Skinner of Lucky Dog Events and choreographed by Penny King of Stillpoint Dance Studio. Producers will be interviewing for a music director, two pianists and a fiddle player for the production. To apply for any of these positions, contact the director at anniegetyourgungp@gmail.com or call Skinner at 541-441-7265.

"Annie Get Your Gun" was written by Herbert and Dorothy Fields, with music by Irving Berlin. The musical biography of Annie Oakley is based on the life and career of the famous sharp shooter and has long been a huge Broadway success. The show's hits include "Anything You Can Do, I Can Do Better," "I Got the Sun in the Morning," and "No Business Like Show Business."

For more information, email Shane Skinner at anniegetyourgungp@gmail.com or call 541-441-7265.

###