Chef Emily brings her training from a prestigious culinary academy in Paris and her experience as an executive chef in many successful restaurants. Chef Emily has an early background in gardening, raising animals, and preserving food in the backwoods of Canada. She then was a camp bush cook serving international cuisine to drillers and geologists in interior and Southeast Alaska. Now as Emily's Kitchen (www.emilyskitchen.com) chef/owner she has become one of the region's premier chefs. Utilizing her French training, Chef Emily has consistently won awards and accolades for her stunning cuisine in Seattle, Portland, La Jolla and Sun Valley. She was named one of the top ten chefs in the Pacific Northwest and garnered the first four-star restaurant review from the Seattle Times for her work at the Painted Table Restaurant. In 2013, she was named one of the "Best Chefs America," by her culinary peers, an honor given to only 1 percent of chefs.

She has extensive banquet and catering experience. Her gorgeous and delicious presentations have graced the tables of many of the Pacific Northwest's luminary families: the Nordstroms, the Benaroyas, the Alhadeffs, Bill and Melinda Gates, and many others. She has taught cuisine at the college level for many years, most recently for four years at Le Cordon Bleu College of Culinary Arts in Seattle.

Mark Solomon of Rogue Valley Cheese Making, is an experienced cheesemaker who has taught over 1,000 students the art and science of cheese making. He has successfully made over five hundred hard cheese wheels of over twenty cheese varieties including Cheddar, Gouda, Sage Derby, Leicester, Colby, Leiden, Havarti, Parmesan and Monterey Jack as well as many soft and bloomy rind cheeses. He has taught in-depth cheese making classes at Pantry at Delancey, Cook's World, Dish It Up, and Cellar Homebrew in Seattle, at Bella Kitchen Essentials in Gig Harbor, and Bellingham Food Coop. In October 2009, he completed an intensive cheese making technology short course at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, part of the Wisconsin Master Cheesemaker program.
