Things to Know

Meet Fiona Transition Specialist

Born and raised in the Rogue Valley, Fiona is thrilled to be at RCC and investing in the community. Fiona graduated with a BA in Speech Communication from Oregon State, with minors in Spanish, Philosophy, History, and Religious Studies. The relationships which she built there led to Fiona completing a Masters at OSU as well.

Fiona, though new to RCC, is not new to helping others. Whether working as a tutor through college, volunteering with 4-H clubs, the Make-a-Wish program, or soup kitchen, she has always been passionate about making connections in her community. When not walking her dogs, trying new takeout food, or going on impromptu road trips, she can be found searching the internet for cheap plane tickets she will never buy.

Hello From the College Now Program Coordinator!

Hello high school partners!

Registration is open for College Now courses for first semester.

Students should have already completed the Admissions application found at <https://www.rogucecc.edu/admissions/new.asp?profile=ECC>.

College Now teachers will have a link to the permission code for their course.

Students should register before they leave for winter break.

Last date to register for College Now first semester courses is January 7.
Grades are due to RCC by January 30.

If a student is failing, or close to failing, please do not have them register for a College Now course. The failing grade may impact their financial aid and their GPA when they attend college full-time.
